IT LOOKS VERY BAD

Samuel D. Clay Accused of Tampering With Court Files.

HIS SCHEME A TOTAL FAILURE

Clay Down Hard-An Old Complaint Smuggled Into the Case,

It was blue in Justice Holcomb's court yesterday morning, and if the charges made by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Burns are true S. D. Clay, attorney for James J. McKee, has committed a serious offense. When the case was called yesterday Miss Jonnie Patton was recalled and Mr. Clay attempted to get the witness to say that the offers for a settlement of the case were made in regard to an action for bastardy. Mr. Burns objected on the ground that there was no record of any bustardy case ever having begun. Mr Clay retorted that such a bastard case had been begun and the papers in relation to the case were in the files of the present case. Mr. Burns said Clay could not produce them, when the latter sprang to the table, caught up a warrant for bastardy and waived it before the prosecutor. Mr. Burns charged Mr. Clay with placing bogus papers in the bles. He called on the court for an ex-planation, and Justice Holcomb stated that Mr. Clay had a rowed the fires be-fore court convened. He said he knew no such warrant was in the files when Mr. Clay took them.
It seems that a bastardy case was started ugainst McKee before the present case was begun, but it was not pushed, and the files disappeared myspushed and the files disappeared mya-teriously from Justice Westfall's court. Next Monday Justice Westfall will be brought into court to testify as to the two warrants, and also to testify as to what papers were in the file lacket when the present was transferred to Justice Holcomb's court. Mr. Burns says he will prosecute Clay if he is able to fix the theft of the files upon him. The evidence regarding the attempts to settle the case has been so strong that Mr. Clay has, from the first, tried that Mr. Clay has, from the first, tried to prove that it was not the present case, but a rape case which they tried to settle. He has been unable to show this, and Miss Patton was very positive she never heard of a bastardy case until Mr. Clay mentioned it in court. It was the rape case which the friends of McKee tried to settle, and the last overtures for settlement were made several months after the child was born and had been sent away to New York by McKee's friends.

Jocky Brown's Will.

The estate of James H. Brown is again in probate court. Margaretta L. Haines filed a petition yesterday, showing that James H. Brown was her father, that he died June 24, 1801, and that she filed what purported to be the last will of her father. The polition further recites that Alice J. Hayden objected to the will and appealed to the circuit court when the will was broken. It states that the property left by her father, real estate and $77,000 of personal property, and that the only heirs are Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Hayden. Mrs. Haines asks that Thomas Hefferan be appointed administrator of the estate. Judge Perkins set May 29 as the date for hearing the petition.
